

Product Guide

The following items are medical marijuana products that are approved in the state of Pennsylvania.

Capsule

Capsules are a familiar medicinal delivery method that include pills and tablets containing cannabis oil. They are designed with different formulas for specific conditions.

Oil

A concentrated form of the most desirable part of the plant, also known as extract. Cannabis oil is available in pre-filled cartridges and syringes or other forms of concentrates.

Topical

Carefully curated cannabis based formulas that target localized pains and inflammation. Topicals include lotions, creams and salves.

Flower

The most common and widely used form of medical marijuana, dry leaf or flower is available for nebulization or vaporization, providing the full benefits of the strain.

Tincture

Cannabis derived oral solutions that are delivered through a dropper or a spray, are generally fast acting, and can be added to foods or beverages.

Liquid

Cannabis liquids include distillates, a systematically extracted oil resulting in a product void of undesirable plant material. It is delivered through pre-filled cartridges or syringes.
